EMMA BARNETT

Emma Barnett, broadcaster and journalist, is the new presenter of BBC Woman's Hour from January.

She also hosts the BBC's flagship news programme Newsnight and is the author of the book: It's About Bloody Time. Period. Which explodes myths about women's health and pokes serious fun at menstrual taboos.

NOREENA HERTZ

Noreena Hertz is a bestselling author and broadcaster. Her latest book The Lonely Century: Coming Together in a World That's Pulling Apart is out now.

Named by The Observer as "one of the world's leading thinkers" and by Vogue as "one of the world's most inspiring women," Noreena is a regular commentator in print and on television, and has appeared in publications and on TV all around the world. Noreena has a PhD from Cambridge University and an MBA from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania.

NICOLE JACOBS

Nicole Jacobs, Designate Domestic Abuse Commissioner, is driving improvements to transform the response to domestic abuse in England and Wales.

She is energetically putting her 20 plus years of experience in domestic abuse policy and intervention to work. She is committed to championing victims and survivors of all ages, status, and backgrounds, and to shining a light on practices that fail them.
